WHY DO I NEED CAR GAP INSURANCE AND HOW DOES IT WORK?

Forget fuel and servicing, depreciation is your biggest motoring expense.

By the end of year 1, the average car can lose 40% of its value. By year 3, at just 10,000 miles a year, it's depreciated by up to 75%!

If your car's stolen or written off as a result of an accident, your motor insurance typically pays the value after depreciation, as little as 25% of the original value as it's designed to pay the value of your car on the date of total loss – not what it was worth at the start of your policy.

Car Gap Insurance pays the cars depreciation, that's the difference between your motor insurers' settlement and the value of your car today. Simply put, we pay the amount you lost in depreciation.

EXAMPLE:

- Value of your car today£ 15,000
- Value of your car at Total Loss£ 11,200
- Car Gap Insurance Benefit£ 3,800

That's right; we send you a cheque for the £3,800 you lost in depreciation!

Our Car Gap Insurance, car depreciation policy, provides the most essential protection against car depreciation. Think of it as an incredibly valuable top-up to your motor insurance.
